Dear Colleague,

I am pleased to provide you with more information about the festschrift/conference on “The Golden Age of Particle Physics and its Legacy” to be held at Boston University on October 21 and 22. We are gratified that, among others, some 10 Nobel Laureats will be joining us. Details are on our web site:

<http://physics.bu.edu/festschrift/>

To rsvp to the invitation, please access your personal (confidential) web registration page.

We will convene from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. on both days, with a celebratory dinner Saturday evening. (The Sulaks are planning gatherings for out-of-town guests Friday night and Sunday morning at their home.) You will find the tentative program on the web site. Potential activities for accompanying guests will soon be suggested.

We have chosen the most attractive of fall weekends in Boston: our town hosts the Head of the Charles, the largest rowing regatta in the world. The downside is that you must reserve a hotel room now if you wish to have a place to sleep.

For those of you who will be flying here, please try to link your hotel with your air ticket. Alternatively, see the hotel information on the registration page. We have blocked rooms in local hotels at the preferred Boston University rate, for which you must mention the “BU Festschrift.” Reservations must be made directly with the hotel and confirmed with a credit card before the specific cutoff dates for each hotel.

To determine if we have blocked enough hotel rooms and to plan for the Saturday dinner, we need to know whether or not you might participate. You can register this and any special requests on the web site. Even a “maybe” is important to us at this time.

John Barrett, assistant to the theory group here, is kindly organizing your visit. If you have questions, please contact him directly at jbarrett@buphy.bu.edu or at 617 353 6069. He is available by phone Monday 9 a.m. - 5 p.m. ET and Tuesday to Thursday from 9 a.m. to noon.

I am very much looking forward to seeing you in Boston. Please register on the web site as soon as possible.

Sincerely,

Sheldon Lee Glashow

for the Festschrift Organizing Committee
